Demonstrating the interconnections hidden in large-scale research data is no easy feat. The xREZ Lab is creating innovative ways to visually and audibly represent big data across multiple fields and provides a collaborative space to fuse art, technology and science. At UNT, we are on a mission to connect interdisciplinary knowledge and artistically show the world how to see big data with new eyes.

— Ruth West
Associate professor, colleges of information, engineering, visual arts and design, arts and sciences, director of xREZ Lab